

ROOSEVELT ISLAND, a New-town-in-town, is linked to Manhattan Island by a new aerial tramway which transports 125 commuters in $3\frac{1}{2}$ minutes. The new community is being developed by the Urban Development Corporation, a public body of New York State, aided by funds from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.