Mr. W. L. Murray
Subscription Manager
The New York Times
Times Square
New York 36, New York

Dear Mr. Murray:

I cannot really say that Mr. Mason ~~no longer~~ lives at this address because he never lived here and it is my sad duty to inform you that Mr. Mason died some time ago. In consequence, he cannot utilize the wonderful "Special to the New York Times" and its other wonderful features.

We here wish that things were quite otherwise, that Mr. Mason were still much alive, although in that case, we should not be named for him, but that would be a small sacrifice for such a boon.

It has just occurred to me that perhaps The Times, not in one of those "Special to the New York Times", but somehow, somewhere could use some information about Mr. Mason and some news about George Mason College. We cover the papers published in this metropolitan area and they cover us, I think, but we have never sent anything to The Times. Perhaps it is for that reason that The Times has paid us very little mind.

I know that you are awfully busy writing letters to people whose subscriptions have expired and thus are plunged into that outer darkness where there are no "Special to the New York Times." But, could you tell me to whom I should write?

Sincerely yours,

J. H. G. Finley
Director
